

Modern Slavery Act Transparency Statement

This statement, made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015, sets out the approach taken by Genell Support to understand all potential modern slavery risks related to our clients, supply chains and our business, and the actions we take to mitigate such risks.

Our commitment:

Genell Support is committed to delivering high standards of corporate governance, and a key element of this is managing the organisation in a socially responsible way. The organisation aims to employ high ethical and professional standards, and always to comply with all local laws and regulations applicable to our business; it follows that Genell Support is absolutely committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking in its activities and supply chains.

Internal policies:

Good corporate citizenship and corporate responsibility are important parts of our identity as an organisation. We aim to provide a rewarding environment in which people are valued and respected. We have a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion and look after the well-being of our people, ensuring that they are safe, well, and appropriately cared for. Our policies contain our ethos and practices regarding Health, Safety and Security of team members, and Genell Support provides support to our team members in relation to stress and mental health.

Risk areas and effectiveness of our practices and processes:

Due to the nature of our business and our approach to governance, we assess that a risk of slavery and human trafficking does exist in our business and supply chains. However, we aim to periodically review the effectiveness of the relevant policies and procedures that we have in place to make improvements necessary to eradicate modern slavery and human trafficking from our business and our supply chains. We do not have key performance indicators in relation to slavery or human trafficking as any instance would be expected to be a breach of law, our standards and/or our organisation policies.

Team Members:

We have communicated extensively to our teams involved in engaging external parties, ensuring they are aware of the due diligence process.

This statement is approved by the Directors of Genell Support.
